AP Computer Science   Lesson 03/16
Dr. Paul L. Bailey   Sunday, March 15, 2020

We will proceed under the assumption that you will eventually have the opportunity to take the AP examination. We have already discussed in class most of the concepts which are covered on the AP examination. However, the better the student is at programming, the better will be their performance on this test.

Please continue with Project 34a - Cryptography.

If you are finished with a project, and wish for additional practice programming, please try Project Euler.
